HERALD SQUARE OPERA COMPANY.
An opera company of such prominence as the "Herald Square Opera Company" is seldom seen in cities the size of Maysville, and theatergoers should thank Managers Russell, Dye and Frank for their enterprise in securing this company, and the engagement was highly made possible by guaranteeing them a large amount of money.

The large cast is headed by Rita Stetson, late of the N. Y. Casino Co.; Mae Glover, late of the Bostonians; Louise Humiston, late of Frances Wilson's Co.; Harry Nelson, late of Della Fox's Co.; George Williams, late of the Grand Opera Co.; Harry Carter, late of El Capitlan, and a large and efficient well-dressed chorus.

On Friday evening, September 7th, Richard Stahl's Oriental opera, the "Said Pasha," will be rendered, and on Saturday evening, September 8th, "Divolette" will be the bill, making two nights of opera, such as was never heard in Maysville before, and two big houses should reward the Managers' efforts in securing such an attraction. Secure seats in advance at Nelson's.

CARD FROM MR. BLATTENBERG.
MAYSVILLE, Ky., Sep. 6th, 1900.
I received your inquiry in my paper of the 5th. Why I have not filed your copy of the County Clerk's duplicate copies of the annual school census is due to the fact that I have to reply to a letter received from the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. I keep an accurate record in a book furnished me by the state, which is at all times subject to inspection. I have acted under orders. Respectfully,
C. W. BLATTENBERG,

WILL BE NO CLASH

The Answers of the Powers to Russia's Proposal Are Reported to Be Satisfactory.

THE EXACT NATURE NOT MADE PUBLIC

Prospects of an Early Settlement of the Vexatious Questions in the Chinese Empire.

Either Minister Cocker or Mr. Rockhill Will Represent the United States in the Final Settlement of the Matter.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Within the last 24 hours the United States government has received from its representatives at foreign capitals much information upon the attitude upon the Russian proposal to evacuate Peking. It is stated that although any prospect of a serious international clash has been largely if not entirely removed by the harmonious character of the communications the governments are making. The exact nature of these is not made public, for until all of them are in the negotiations are considered incomplete. It is said, however, that the answers are of a conclusive nature, so far as showing the purposes of the government, although they may not be regarded as conclusive in accepting or rejecting the proposition advanced by Russia. On the whole the general tendency of the response is such as to give entire satisfaction here as to the course of the negotiations and has had the effect of directing the attention of the Chinese people to the personality of the envoys who probably will represent the powers and China in the final settlement. The impression prevails here that the government is entirely fitted for such a task on the part of the United States, supposing that each of the powers interested in the Chinese problem is to have a separate and individual representative. Mr. Rockhill's name is mentioned as an alternate. These suggestions, however, are all speculative.

If the present state of affairs in China is protracted until the arrival there of Field Marshal Count Waldersee, which should occur in about ten days or a fortnight, it is not to be doubted that Germany will endeavor to have all negotiations with the Chinese government conducted through him as representative of all the powers. It is gathered that strong arguments will be advanced in support of this combined action through a single agency in this manner and it will be urged that there is little hope for an early adjustment of differences between Germany and China if each of the powers is to lay down an independent proposition.

GERMAN ACTIVE.

Many Messages Have Passed Between Berlin and Peking on the Chinese Situation.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The German government office appears to be active in the negotiations and many messages have passed between Washington and Berlin. These most likely to understand Germany's attitude look to the suggestion of a course which will be neither an acceptance or a rejection of the Russian proposal but such a satisfactory middle ground that all the powers, including Russia, can agree to it. For instance, it is suggested that Germany with propriety might suggest a certain number of military detachments to be left at Peking, with an understanding that such small detachments will be quartered so long as peace and quiet prevails in Peking, but be ready to act in case of further Chinese depredations. Diplomats here suggest that some such compromise is about the only way of avoiding an impasse and that the best resources of diplomacy are now being used to secure it. Another diplomatic quarter believes that the compromise will be found by China's reestablishing a government and naming peace commissioners. Official information has reached Washington that steps are now being taken towards the appointment of such a commission, including Li Hung Chang, the viceroy of Nan-Kin and Wu-Chang, and Prince Ching, though reports also have named Xung Lu, the Chinese minister in London, as the Chinese representative in this case. It is believed that Russia no longer would feel impelled to insist upon the withdrawal of the British and troops from Peking. It is pointed out also that in the six days since the Russian-American notes were given out the Chinese have been growing steadily in favor of continuing the presence of troops at Peking.

OUTRAGES CONTINUE.

Washington, Sept. 6.—If there is any change in the military situation in China, it is in the direction of a more active Chinese activity. It is understood that the disturbances and outrages upon the railways continue in some of the districts outside of Peking. It is believed here that the foreign ministers in Peking will probably act in a more decided way to any withdrawal of troops if their respective governments delay action upon the Russian proposition until they have had a chance to express their views.

STATE OF OPERATORS

Coal Operators Doing Business in Anthracite Districts Meet and Discuss the Situation.

A STATEMENT OF THEIR VIEWS MADE

The Soft Coal Interest Would Reap the Benefit in Case of Any Troubles or Strikes.

It Is Alleged That the Scale of Wages Has Not Been Reduced Within a Period of Over Twenty Years.

New York, Sept. 6.—It has been asserted that the coal operators who do business in the anthracite coal districts discussed at their meeting in this city the threatened strike among the soft coal operators, and that after a lengthy conference, a committee was appointed to draft a statement setting forth the views of the operators and refusing to recognize the United Mine Workers of America.

In view of the interest taken in the threatened strike, and in the meeting of the operators and their leaders, the United Mine Workers to be held at Indianapolis Wednesday, a statement was given out Wednesday night from the operators' headquarters, which thoroughly reviews the situation from the mine owners' standpoint. The statement asserts that the United Mine Workers and their leaders are composed of soft coal men, not familiar with the conditions of anthracite mining, and the association of the anthracite mine with the soft coal district is believed to be antagonistic to the best interests of the men and the mine owners. It is alleged that the soft coal men would reap the benefit of any troubles or strikes caused by that organization in the anthracite region.

The statement then goes on to deny alleged statements coming from the United Mine Workers. It is alleged that the scale of wages has not been reduced in over 20 years, notwithstanding the numerous periods of business depression and repeated reductions in the soft coal mining regions, but, on the other hand, advances have been made in a great many mines to meet changing conditions.

The statement also denies that the market price of coal is higher than in many years, but asserts that it is much below the price received in 1892, and the profits of the business have decreased largely, owing to the increased cost of mining coal from lower depths and longer distances underground, and the increased cost of materials used around the collieries.

Regarding the power question, the statement says it is true that the price charged the miner for power is much above the present cost, but that the advanced wage paid the miner in the anthracite region more than covers the increased price he pays over the cost per keg in other districts.

The statement winds up with the following paragraph: "Under the present circumstances we feel our position to be fair and reasonable. We do not want a strike and would gladly avoid it, and trust that our men will consider carefully before led further along by promises that can never be realized. Our position is taken after due deliberation and we believe is for the best interests of the workmen, their family, the business interests and our country."

TUTTLE'S REPORT

Condition of the Natives Along the Alaskan Coast and Adjacent Islands.

MUCH SICKNESS AND DEATH NOTED

Fully One-Half of the Residents in and Around Teller Station Have Sickened and Died.

Relief Must at Once Be Afforded Them, or They Will Perish From the Effects of Cold and Starvation.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Capt. Tuttle, of the revenue cutter service, in command of the steamer Teller, reports to the treasury department from Nome, August 9, as to the condition of the natives along the Alaskan coast and adjacent islands. At Siroko measles were epidemic, and that after a violent and fatal. At Teller Station much sickness and many deaths among the natives were reported. At Cape York the same fatal sickness was found among the natives. Capt. Prince of Wales showed practically the same desperate condition.

From that point the bear proceeded to East Cape Village, Siberia, and thence to St. Lawrence Bay and Port Clarence. Everywhere the vessel touched officers were sent ashore to investigate the conditions, and reported that the natives never have been in worse condition. At Teller Station affairs were desperate. Fully one-half of the natives around the station have died. In some cases the entire number of adult people left in others the parents have died, leaving helpless children. The salmon are running, but there are not a sufficient number of well people to catch them and thus provide food for the present and the coming winter. The ravages of the disease have been so great that a point has been reached where the natives and the dead are left unburied in their houses. In their distress the natives in the vicinity of Teller Station are collecting there for food and medical attention.

Rev. T. L. Breig, although not a physician, has set up a few tents and is running a temporary hospital, having 12 sick and 12 orphan children under his care, furnishing them with food as best he can. He is said to be in great need of pilot bread, flour and clothing for the natives in extreme distress. There is said to be no record during the last 50 years of the degree of destitution that now prevails along the whole Bering sea coast.

Capt. Tuttle concludes his report as follows:

"At a conference with Gov. Brady, of Alaska, J. F. Evans, special agent of the treasury, and Dr. Sheldon Jackson and others, the deplorable condition of the natives north of Unalaska it was decided that relief must at once be afforded them, or they would perish from cold and starvation during the coming winter. I offered to fill the bear with what ever could be procured to distribute north of Cape Prince of Wales. Special Agent Evans at once ordered a load which was put on board. I stemmed to Unalakleet to get some stores to be put on board."

Capt. Tuttle says he is going to make another trip north to distribute the few things that were received there to attend to the government business.

A LARGE ORDER FOR NATIVE COAT.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 6.—The Pittsburgh and Baltimore Coal Co. has received an order for 25,000 coats, and is to be sent to England by way of Baltimore. The order is the first large one the company has received for exports, and is the beginning of a large order for foreign markets. For export coal men say that better and larger orders can be obtained if they could get at the Philadelphia mine, where hangs a large portrait of him.

TRANSPORTS ARRIVE AT MANILA.

ARTHUR SEAWALL DEAD.

He Was Stricken With Apoplexy Sunday Night and Passed Away Wednesday in Bath, Me.

Bath, Me., Sept. 6.—Hon. Arthur Seawall, on the democratic national ticket with Bryan in 1900, died Wednesday morning. Death was due to an apoplectic stroke sustained Sunday night.

Mr. Seawall died without recovering consciousness. He had been so since he was stricken. His wife and son, William, were at the bedside when he died.

Arthur Seawall was born at Bath, Me., November 25, 1833. He came from a family illustrious on both sides of the water. Mr. Seawall was president of the Maine Central from 1884 to 1903, president of the Bath national bank, and an officer or director in nearly every corporation in Bath. He became active in politics in 1888, when he was elected democratic national committeeman. The nomination for vice president in 1900 came to him as a surprise. He was minister to Samoa and to Hawaii under President Harrison, and was appointed special commissioner to Hawaii by President McKinley in 1898, and is prominent in republican politics in Maine.
